Keweenaw Community Foundation Chooses Community Akoya.net

Minneapolis, Minnesota; February 28, 2017 – Bromelkamp Company LLC, known for its affordable and customizable foundation management software, announced recently that the Keweenaw Community Foundation has selected Community Akoya.net for its integrated data management solution. This solution is considered by many to be best in class integrated community foundation technology -- encompassing robust CRM, fund accounting, grants management and gifts/fundraising tools combined with the power of cloud-computing. Bromelkamp Company takes pride in staying connected with grantmakers' needs, and is committed to providing creative, insightful solutions for community foundations.

When asked why they chose Community Akoya.net, Jim Vivian, Executive Director of the Keweenaw Community Foundation, stated, "We had been able to work for a long time with our internal financial records and by partnering with an outside vendor who kept good track of our grant making documents, but more and more we found that we needed access to day-to-day activities and up to the minute records of our grant making and fundraising effort. We wanted to put all of our data in one system that was accessible 24/7, so we searched for an integrated solution focused on CRM and selected Community Akoya.net." The Keweenaw Community Foundation manages a variety of endowed funds that benefit their community, including Field of Interest, Donor Advised, Community Impact, Designated, and Scholarship. In addition, they are a local vehicle for planned giving. The implementation of Community Akoya.net will serve their data management needs by organizing their robust grantmaking, their fundraising and event management.

Community Akoya.net is written in Microsoft Dynamics CRM; it's easy to learn and modify. Its advanced CRM functionality allows staff to easily manage all interactions with donors, contacts and constituents. Automated workflows and business processes make scholarship and grant management efficient. Community Akoya.net's fund accounting automates essential functions like joint investment allocation, fund fee assessment, spendable allotment and auto-balancing that keep fund balances accurate every second. This solution gives foundations and grant-making organizations increased efficiency and ease of use, real-time visibility, and reduced IT cost. This results in improved transparency and outcomes.
